Office Tab 7.00

Unlike web browsers -- Internet Explorer 8, Firefox or Chrome, Microsoft Office does not use a single window to hold multiple files for viewing and editing. Office Tab improves the ability of Microsoft Office, and brings the tabbed user interface to Microsoft Office 2003, 2007 and 2010 (includes Word, Excel[®], PowerPoint[®], Project and Visio[®]).

- ✿ Open, read, edit and manage multiple Office documents in a tabbed window
- ✿ Easy to use, just like IE 8, Firefox and Google Chrome.
- ✿ Based on Microsoft Office-Add-in technology.
- ✿ Save and close all opened Office documents by one click.
- ✿ More Functions help to improve efficiency.

Microsoft Office 2003, 2007, 2010 (32/64). Trial period - 30 Days

Free Google Cloud Connect for Microsoft Office

Wouldn't it be great if you could combine the best of Microsoft Office and Google Docs? Imagine the feature set and usability of Office with the ability of Google Docs to store documents in the cloud and share them. With Google Cloud Connect for Microsoft Office, that's exactly what you get. This free add-in for Microsoft Office, which hails from Google, lets you save your Office documents to Google Docs, where you can use them as you would normally.

After you install the software, it runs as its own toolbar at the top of Office. When you want to save a document to Google Docs, simply click Sync, and it saves the file, and then syncs it automatically every time you save. If you want, you can change that syncing behavior, and having Google Cloud Connect sync only when you manually tell it to.

Win 7 Bins

Group your taskbar icons

Combine related programs on your Windows 7 taskbar into "Bins".

Reduce clutter, and get at your programs quickly.

■ Super easy

Create a Bin by dragging one taskbar icon on top of another, and dropping into the popup that appears. Ungroup shortcuts by dragging the icon back to the taskbar. No need to open a settings screen; Bins is simple and intuitive.

◆ Instantly accessible

Once combined into a Bin, your shortcuts will appear instantly when you mouse over the group's icon, for launching or for window-management. Move your mouse away and your Bin will tuck back into the taskbar.
